

KAREN'S FASHION TREND:

First, the Mason jar was all the rage. Now, it's the old-fashioned milk bottle!

These bottles are flying off the shelves in bulk. The glass milk bottle is what all the crafters are talking about. They're making their appearance as the hot-ticket item to have for do-it-yourselfers. The milk bottles are painted or kept clear. They're being used as vases/centerpieces or simply as fun giveaways for candy. Of course, they're also being used as regular drinking bottles, too!

The bottles scream nostalgia and who doesn't love a little throwback to when times were simpler?! Check out social media sites and craft stores to get an idea of how they're being used and why they're so popular!